Villanova Host To Greyhounds At Philadelphia

A pair of non-conference engagements are on the docket for the Hounds over this week-end, as they tackle Villanova College and Alderson-Broadbush College on successive evenings.

Lefty Reitz will be sending his charges against his alma mater tonight, when the Green and Gray invades Philadelphia for a game with the Wildcats. Reitz has drilled his 16-man squad all week in hopes of breaking a Villanova streak that has reached seven straight wins over the Hounds. From 1938 through 1945, the Philadelphia courtmen garnered consecutive triumphs at the expense of the Evergreen crew, racking up 301 points to Loyola's 206. The rivalry was discontinued last year.

Reitz feels that this is the year to end the spree, and has primed his boys for a fast-moving game. He has worked with several different player combinations in order to muster a unit possessing the maximum scoring strength.

Scarcely will the Wildcat game be history, when Loyola returns to the home hardwood tomorrow evening to battle Alderson-Broadbush from West Virginia. A newcomer to the Evergreen schedule, the rivals are touted as a high-scoring bunch that will demand plenty of attention.

Rector's Christmas Message

There is no security like that which comes from charity in the souls of men. Through charity we trust one another, believe one another, bear with each other's shortcomings and weaknesses, are patient in difficulties, assist one another in need, inspire confidence, awaken the heart of mirth.

All these characteristics of charity belong to Christmas. When the Son of God became man and was born in the world, he brought to its coldness the glowing warmth of Divine Love, and to its barrenness the fruitfulness of that same love which is peace. He turned its weakness into strength and its power into meekness. The world has never been in greater need of these blessings of Divine charity than it is today. Could all mankind fix its gaze on the Babe of Bethlehem and contemplate, with the vision of faith, the majesty of God made lowly through Divine Love, the peace we so yearn for would surely come and remain with us.

This is my ardent wish and that of the Faculty of Loyola in extending greetings to our students, their parents, our alumni and our friends at this Christmas in the year of Our Lord 1946.

Mr. Driscoll Recuperating

Official diagnosis of the condition of Mr. William-M. J. Driscoll, S. J., now recuperating at Mercy Hospital after a serious appendicitis operation, is "serious but not critical". Visitors are still not permitted.

Mr. Driscoll was taken ill on Tuesday, December 3, and sent to the hospital that night for an emergency operation.

An article about Mr. Driscoll's activities at Loyola is published on page 5.

Alpha Sigma Nu To Collect Books

Loyola's chapter of the National Jesuit Honor Fraternity, the Alpha Sigma Nu, will sponsor a campaign during examination week to collect used text books of all sorts for the ravaged Jesuit Mission of Our Lady of Carmel in Talisayan, Philippine Islands. In a letter to Dr. Edward A. Doehler, a member of the fraternity, the Rev. Joseph Reith, S. J., ex. '15, asked him to send one book in answer to the letter.

Dr. Doehler turned the letter over to the fraternity and William W. Cahill was appointed chairman to head the collection. (Fr. Reith's letter is published on page 4).

Bin In Cafeteria

A large bin will be placed in the cafeteria so that students may conveniently deposit books there. Any type of book, whether religious, historical, scientific or fictional, will be welcomed by Fr. Reith.

An urgent request was made for high-school texts, however. Fr. Reith, who was imprisoned by the Japanese from 1942 to 1945, returned to his mission on Mindanao to find the library of the parochial school completely devastated.

Night School Term Begins On Jan. 20

Students in the Night School will have their Semester Examinations during the week of January 13 to 18. Registration for the new term, which begins on January 20, is now open and will close January 18. A fee of five dollars is charged for any late registrations.

A course in "Radio Broadcasting" will be offered in January, the Night School Office announces.

The classical literature course, scheduled in the catalogue to be given by Mr. P. Edward Kaltenbach, has been assumed by Mr. Victor J. Lugowski.

Alumni Fund Workers Disband; New Liaison Committee Formed

Announcement that the building fund for the erection of the Memorial Chapel and Auditorium has now reached the three-quarter mark of the campaign for $400,000 was made by the Very Rev. Edward B. Bunn, S. J., at a dinner meeting of the Alumni Committee last week.

Very Rev. Edward B. Bunn, S. J., points to sketch of Chapel

The Alumni Committee, founded last March under the direction of Isaac S. George, '01, has now officially disbanded with $200,000 attained of its quota of $250,000. A liaison volunteer committee has been formed to aid Fr. Bunn until the official closing of the campaign. This liaison committee will make a final report on Alumni participation in the campaign.

An outright gift of $100,000 to the college by the late Charles M. Cohn, '97, enabled the Alumni to almost reach their quota. Mr. Cohn's bequest will be applied to the construction of the Auditorium beneath the Chapel itself.

Alumni Directory

In a speech of appreciation to the Group Leaders and Class Captains, Fr. Bunn revealed his plans for the publication of an Alumni Directory which will list the address of and pertinent information concerning every Alumnus of the college.

"It is one of my efforts in this Campaign," said Fr. Bunn, "to give every Alumnus the opportunity to

Charles M. Cohn, '97, Dies; Headed Loyola Lay Council

Funeral services for Charles M. Cohn, '97, Chairman of the Lay Advisory Committee of Loyola College, were held at the Second Presbyterian Church on Saturday, December 7, 1946. Mr. Cohn was taken ill suddenly on December 4 and died at 6:30 a.m., Thursday, December 5. The Very Rev. Edward B. Bunn, S. J., President of Loyola College, was an honorary pallbearer at the funeral.

A few days after his death, the announcement was made that Mr. Cohn had left $100,000 outright to Loyola. This sum will be used toward the completion of an auditorium in the proposed Memorial Chapel.

Mr. Cohn, president of the Consolidated Gas and Electric Light and Power Company of Baltimore, was chosen by the trustees of Loyola College to be presented with an Honorary Doctor of Laws Degree at the June Commencement Exercises in 1942. This degree is the highest honor that Loyola College can bestow upon a man for exceptional qualities of leadership shown throughout his career.

Received Master's Degree In '99

Mr. Cohn received his Bachelor of Arts Degree in 1897 and his Master of Arts Degree in 1899. Following his education at Loyola, he entered the University of Baltimore Law School, and he received his Bachelor of Laws Degree. After graduation from Law School, he became a member of the Baltimore Bar.

His entire business career was with the Consolidated Gas and Electric Company of Baltimore. In addition to his duties as President of that company, Mr. Cohn was a director of the Fidelity Trust Company of Baltimore, a member of the Executive Committee, and Chairman of the Trust Committee. He was also a director of the Industrial Building Company and of McDowell and Company of Baltimore.

Lay Council Chairman

When the Lay Advisory Council was formed in 1939 to assist the President of the college, Mr. Cohn was chosen chairman. He occupied this position continuously until his death, presiding at a meeting only ten days before his death.

Mr. Cohn took an active interest in all events at the College and was a familiar figure at commencements and public lectures.

Quartet And Recorders Featured At Christmas Carol Presentation

Mr. George K. Bellows directs the Glee Club quartet.

More than three hundred persons, a capacity audience, attended the Christmas Carol presentation of the Glee Club last Sunday. Additions to the program included a recorder group, a selection by a quartet chosen from the Glee Club and community singing.

William D. Wiegand was the featured soloist, singing the Cantique de Noel for Tenor by Adam. The other student soloist was Niles C. Fields, baritone.

The concert was under the direction of Mr. George Kent Bellows.

Eugene Belt was the accompanist.

Recorders, considered the fore-runners of the modern flute, date back in English history to before the time of Sir Francis Bacon.

Mrs. Elizabeth Eberling directed the recorder group and was assisted by Miss Helen Garth, soloist, Miss Charlotte Ann Hobler, Mrs. Nancy Murray and Mrs. Mary Whistler. Their program consisted of ancient Christmas carols and a Two-part Invention of the seventeenth century.

Vet Embarrassed By Emblem Loss

This is a story with a moral. Early this week a Freshman B.S. I veteran, who prefers to remain anonymous, was strolling casually down Baltimore street, teeth, shoes, and discharge button gleaming.

Pausing a moment at the window of a haberdasher's, the veteran was jostled by the Christmas crowds. Hearing a metallic clink, he was horrified to see that his discharge emblem had slipped from his lapel. He leaped after it vainly, only to see it roll to the curb and disappear down a sewer.

There he stood. Striving to hide his shame by crossing his arms high over his chest and feigning nonchalance, he could not but feel the glare of passersby burning into him. "That man," he could imagine them thinking, "is not a veteran! He wasn't in the great war!"

The veteran concerned requested THE GREYHOUND to pass his experience on to its readers. "Don't run a risk," he concluded, "Always carry an extra duck in your watchpocket."

IRC Will Discuss Commerce Problems

Some aspect of world trade will be the topic for discussions at the second meeting of the Maryland International Relations Conference. The delegates will convene at Loyola on Sunday afternoon, January 26, at 3 o'clock.

Instead of the customary discussion by the entire assembly, this particular meeting will divide into small panels for specialized discussions after the opening speech has been read. At the close of the afternoon, the assembly will reconvene and the conclusions of the round table groups reported.

Plans are now being laid for Loyola's participation in the model United Nations Assembly at Swarthmore College, Pennsylvania, during the Easter vacation.

Johnny Grimm Plays Drums At Soph Hop, January 18

High spot of social activity for the new year will be the "Second Annual January Jamboree" sponsored by the first semester Sophomore Class on Saturday evening, January 18. Bill Maisel and his Orchestra, featuring Johnny Grimm on the drums, will provide the musical portion of the evening's program. It will mark the first time that this aggregation has appeared here in its entirety: 14 pieces and a vocalist.

Decorations and a well planned evening are in the making according to John J. Enoch, president of the Sophomore class and chairman of the dance committee. The dance will be informal and will be held in the Gymnasium from nine 'til one. Two dollars is the admission charge per couple and this covers the cost of refreshments.

Grimm On The Drums

Johnny Grimm, featured on the drums, is a student at the college. Maisel's orchestra was formerly under his leadership and the orchestra appeared at ten consecutive dances here during the war. While a student at Poly, Grimm formed a swing band, an all girl glee club, a military band and a symphony orchestra. His swing band played at three of the annual Poly Follies.

The orchestra also has in its ranks such well known musicians as Jack Armstrong, playing the trumpet, and Joe Thomas, handling the tenor saxophone. Jane MacMasters is the vocalist.

Enoch Names Committeemen

Enoch has appointed a committee to assist him in carrying out the plans made for the dance. The five committeemen are Philip Lohrey, John Hohman, James Norris, Thomas Padden and James Ward.

Maisel's Orchestra has also been booked to play at the Catholic Student's Mission Crusade Dance at the Sheraton-Belvedere Hotel on January 10.

Chemistry Club Sees Britannica Movies

Movies were shown to the Chemistry Club on Friday, December 6, at an assembly which included most of the students in the Freshman chemistry classes. The Encyclopedia Britannica produced the films.

Subjects of the movies were: Molecular Theory of Matter, Electrons, Energy and Its Transformation, Oxidation and Reduction, Catalysis, Velocity of Chemical Reactions and Electro-Chemistry.

Mr. Joseph A. Sellinger, S. J., explained that the purpose of the movies was to reproduce experiments which require too many materials for ordinary laboratory use and also to repeat in an interesting manner the matter of the classroom lectures. More pictures will be presented next year.

How About Journalism?

The question which confronts the college student who wishes to enter the field of journalism, or any field of creative writing, is whether to take post-graduate work at some university or attempt the slow and painful climb from copyboy to star reporter.

Talent Not Acquired

Nonetheless, it is universally agreed that the art of creative writing is one which is born within the individual and not acquired. To be sure, schools of journalism can teach one the correct way in which to write and give him a thorough knowledge of English grammar.

But the knack of creative writing, the how to do it, is something which must be born with the individual. The college student, then, should first consider his ability to put words together in an interesting fashion.

Tough Competition

The field of creative writing is one which demands real talent because so many people are fascinated by the thought of their own ability. For this very reason, the newspaperman may find his work extremely interesting but at the same time find it one of the most hazardous financially. There is constant indignity to rid him of his post in favor of some potential genius.

Whether or not a man goes to graduate school or prefers to learn by experience, he should always remember that city editors, as an infallible rule, put no stock in high school or college literary work or in post-graduate studies. They will hire men who seem willing to learn and who have some semblance of ability. To be well-read is the only fundamental requisite and the student must determine whether this can be best accomplished through graduate school or private initiative.

Historians Hear Eight Speakers

Dr. Edward A. Doehler, moderator, has announced the schedule for lectures before the John Gilmory Shea History Academy by the eight Seniors who are majoring in History. The talks will be given every other Thursday afternoon of the second semester, beginning January 23, at 2:30 p.m. Interested students are invited to attend.

The schedule follows:

January 23, "Mirabeau and the French Revolution," Gus A. Crenson.

February 6, "Personalities of the Congress of Vienna," Joseph Connolly.

February 20, "Richelieu and the Thirty Years' War," Rabe Benbenick.

March 6, "The Third Party Movement in American History," Edward Bacon.

March 20, "Bismarck and William II," Guy E. Kagey.

April 10, "Saladin," Thomas Lalley.

April 24, "The Monroe Doctrine and the Mexican Empire," Frank Odenheimer.

May 8, "Disraeli and Gladstone," Albert Sehlstedt.

Fordham Accepts Chess Challenge

Through the medium of the United States Post Office, the Chess Club is now playing a game with Fordham University. The game has advanced to the eighth move with the only casualties being a pawn on either side. Thomas Comber, Chess Club president, describes the position as "crucial."

A challenge was also received from St. Peter's High School in New Jersey and matches are being played on an individual basis rather than as a contest between clubs.

College Calendar

Dec. 20—Christmas holidays begin.
23—Lecture on "Mirabeau and the French Revolution," by Gus A. Crenson at 2:30 p.m.

Jan. 6—Classes resumed.
10—Second Quarter ends.
13—Semester Examinations begin.
18—January Jamboree, Bill Maisel's Orchestra, in Gymnasium, 9 to 1.
20—Term Holiday.
21—Classes resumed; Third Quarter begins.

Sodalities Sponsor Drive For Razed Chinese Mission

by Francis X. Gallagher

In an effort to aid the replacement of the Chinese Jesuit Mission at Sienhsien, which is now in the hands of the Communists who have confiscated all food and clothing supplies, the Senior and Junior Sodalities are currently co-sponsoring a campaign to raise five hundred dollars. The first appeal for donations came on Friday, December 13, when the Rev. Thomas J. Higgins, S. J., gave a short address at a meeting in the cafeteria. Edward Barretti, prefect of the Senior Sodality, and Francis Janowiak, Junior Sodality prefect, also made short talks.

An appeal by the Most Reverend Francis Xavier Tchao, S. J., Chinese Jesuit Bishop, provided the impetus for the campaign which aims to secure a contribution of at least one dollar from each student.

A six man committee has been appointed to spearhead the solicitations which are already under way. Similar campaigns are expected to be conducted in 25 other Jesuit Colleges throughout the United States.

Holly Hop Planned

From the social slant, another important phase of Sodality activity is the Holly Hop, scheduled for Sunday, December 29, 1946. Under the direction of Thomas Gisriel, chairman of the Social Life Committee, the dance will be held in the Recreation Room of the Gymnasium from nine till one. The price of admission is one dollar. Refreshments will be served and music will be provided by records.

In order to publicize this event, the Publicity Committee has embarked upon an extensive poster campaign. Tickets are now on sale and may be purchased from any of the officers of the Junior Sodality.

Triduum For Holy Father

During the week of the annual retreat, a Triduum was made by the Junior Sodalists for the Holy Father. The Senior Sodalists plan to make their Triduum during the Christmas holidays.

Every other week, Junior Sodality meetings are held in the chapel where the prefect leads the members in the recitation of the Missa Recitata. In keeping with the rules of the organization, the Sodalists receive Holy Communion in a body once a month.

Ten members of the freshman class of Notre Dame of Maryland are about to organize a veteran unit of the Catholic Students Mission Crusade and have invited Loyola students to join this organization.

Magic Show For Orphans

The annual Christmas party for children of St. Elizabeth's Orphanage, sponsored by the Sodality Union of Baltimore, was held last Wednesday, December 18. Participating were Sodalities from Notre Dame, Mt. St. Agnes, Goucher, Johns Hopkins, and Loyola.

Besides several short skits, including a performance by Mary Jane Connolly, assisted by Elizabeth Moeslein and Libby Von Rinteln, a magic show and juggling act were presented.

Individual gifts were presented to the orphans by the girl Sodalists. Hopkins and Loyola arranged for the refreshments and entertainment.

The Christmas party took the place of the Union's December meeting. Tentative date of the next meeting is January 19. Further discussion is expected prior to deciding on possible adoption of the "Cell Technique" as the Union's project for 1947.

Helicopter Reneges; Ethics Cuts Stand

Helicopter or not, Ethics goes on. It all started with an announcement that a helicopter was to land on the athletic field on Tuesday, December 10, at exactly 12 noon. No one knew just why it had chosen to land here. But many of the student body, including a delegation from the Ethics class, were out on the field waiting.

About noon the helicopter appeared but, instead of landing, disappeared. It turned out later that the helicopter was an air freight experiment by a local finance company.

Helicopter or not, the cuts for Ethics still stand.

Christmas Spirit

One of the most interesting of all theological speculations is the expulsion of Lucifer and his followers from Heaven. The common explanation is that Lucifer, greatest of all the angels, was given a vision of the Infant Jesus to adore and, refusing to do so, was cast out of Heaven. For this deliberate refusal to believe in the Christmas story, the ranks of heaven were so depleted that man, so some say, was created to fill them up.

In the curious jumble of the quasi-Christian society in which we live, we are not confronted with so deliberate and cold-blooded a denial of Bethlehem. The tendency is rather to reduce the Christmas Story to the position of an engaging myth while the physical barter of presents is made the essential part of Christmas. And it naturally follows that the happiest part of the season is Christmas Eve, for we imagine the wonderful presents which are stored up for us and the delight which others will have at receiving our gifts.

As an inevitable outcome, the essential spirit of Christmas—peace—is completely hidden and the spiritual joy which it should produce is obscured by mawkish sentimentality.

This feeling of peace is what we seek unconsciously from the feast of Christmas and, although we may bury ourselves in holiday activity, we always feel keenly the sense of disillusionment which follows. And each year, as the Christmas season approaches, we send out more Christmas cards and wrap more gifts in an effort to find this peace although we do not realize that we are looking for it or that we will never find it. For, "unless ye become as little children . . ."

Books On Review

by Gus A. Crenson

The Christmas Story by H. L. Mencken

The iconoclastic Mr. Mencken has burrowed into his pile of old copy and turned out this little fable in book form for the Christmas trade. Originally it appeared as a short story in The New Yorker a couple of years ago. In its new format, Mr. Mencken's fable has been enormously enhanced by the pleasingly fantastic illustrations of Bill Crawford.

There is not as much to Mr. Mencken's Christmas Story as there was to the series of reminiscences about old Baltimore which he published a few years ago. Mr. Mencken's newest "recollection" concerns a free-thinking, professional mourner for a Baltimore brewery named Fred. Toward the turn of the century, Fred became disgusted at the diabolical way in which the city's bums were forced to sit through interminable sermons before they could enjoy the Christmas dinner given annually by a religious organization. With the help of friends, he made preparations to give the bums a tremendous Christmas dinner without any hint of religious trappings. A twenty-four hour feast was given replete with every Maryland delicacy and enlivened by a marathon floor show staged by one of the comparatively innocuous burlesque troupes of the period. Fred's dream of emancipation from religion for the tramps was crushed, however, when the gorged and half-stupefied bums began to sing revival hymns at the end of the dinner.

Mr. Mencken uses this chance to sneer at the most cherished of all Western traditions: Christmas. There can be no doubt that the Christmas Story is well written or that Mr. Mencken has lost any of the power which so distinguished him on the Smart Set during the twenties. His technical excellence must always be admired.

But the very fact that Fred is disillusioned in the story brings out a point which Mr. Mencken either overlooks or refuses to consider. The most pervading of all normal childhood experiences is the anticipation which precedes Christmas and the joy of the day itself. The entire atmosphere is inescapably saturated with Scrooge, Bob Cratchit and Tiny Tim; it is the one day on which none of us is ashamed to be sentimental.

Thus the cynical and biting sarcasm of Mr. Mencken seems at no time more inappropriate than in the Christmas Story. Granted that his style is refreshing, the tenor of the entire book is so out of place that one resents its intrusion.

T'WAS AFTER THE CHRISTMAS HOLIDAYS AT LOYOLA, AS ANY FOOL COULD PLAINLY SEE!

Letters To The Greyhound

Our Lady of Carmel Mission
Talisayan, Oriental Misamis, P. I.
Christmas, 1946

Dear Dr. Doehler:

My happiest since 1940—

Decidedly that is true of this coming Christmas. In 1941 I was fearing the Japanese invasion of Mindanao; in 1942 and 1943 I was a prisoner; in concentration camps for 1944; and in 1945 back to poverty and destruction and sickness in Mindanao. But this year we are recovering, and again there is a feeling of "joy to the world." Thanks be to God! Thanks be to God!

And in that returned exultation I am mindful most of all of my friends and benefactors who have been so loyal, so generous to me during these trying years. You have had your own trials and sorrows, your difficulties and hardships. I am praying that this year, despite the confusion of the world, your hearts may experience the peace, the serenity of the Crib-side. If "Merry Christmas" means joy, consolation, repose, in the consciousness of the love of the Infant Saviour, I am wishing you that a hundredfold.

To the thousands of Filipinos entrusted to me, especially to my High School and Grade School pupils, I want to bring a realization of the full meaning of Christmas—of what it signifies to you good Catholics in America. This can be done in no better way, I believe, than by letting them see your goodness, feel and touch your Christlike charity. It can be done in this way:

I am requesting you to send me as a Christmas gift ONE BOOK—a book that I can place on the shelves of our School Library as a mark of your interest in this mission. Any book—spiritual, fiction, history, science, biography, music, juvenile; text books, encyclopedias, dictionaries; new books, old books. This is not a difficult request, because you can mail one or more books directly to me by regular or book mail; or, if you can supply a larger number, they may be shipped, conspicuously marked for my mission, to the Jesuit Philippine Procure—57 East 83rd St., New York, N. Y. In my destroyed Moro mission in Dansalan I had 8,000 books. Here I possess not even a hundred; and a well stocked library is a requirement of the Government for the newly-opened High School.

Perhaps I have been bothering you with too frequent appeals during the past months. If so, I am sorry. But, frankly I am in competition with a whole world that is begging, and my mission cannot succeed unbefriended. With your indulgence, therefore, I repeat my appeal. Let your Christmas greetings to me and my mission be expressed by ONE BOOK—now.

Sincerely yours in the love of the Infant Saviour,
Joseph Reith, S. J.

Bob Hiltz Writes

715 University Avenue
Syracuse-10, N. Y.

Dear Mr. Driscoll,

It sure was mighty swell to get the first issue of the Hound. No stuff. I see you have 660 students now and that fact sure hits home to me, for I have many, many friends who are back now. I'd sure like to be attending classes with them. Syracuse University is filled to overflowing with 15,000 students. Two-thirds are veterans! the rest coeds. Nothing like Loyola!

Am taking only four courses, in Newswriting, Advertising, Radio and Magazine Editing and Publishing. Have, therefore, lots of time for background reading. My house duties are not too strenuous—in fact they are very easy. I think the biggest thing in being a counselor up here is getting in. After that they treat you like one of the administration. It's a good deal, Mister.

Hope the ASN Alumni brothers are coming along in great style. Tell them that I remember them in my prayers. Incidentally, they have a fine chaplain up here. Religion means more than it ever did at Loyola, since so many of the kids up here will argue with you and try to make you follow their ways. But as long as a guy has a Catholic education behind him, such as the one I got at Loyola, you can stand up against any of them—and win! I've even sent home for my old Philosophy and Ethics books so as to be able to be right up there when it comes time for these frequent bull sessions.

It's time for me to hit those books now, Mister Driscoll, so reluctantly I'll have to sign off here. As I do, I send my best wishes to you and all the fellows.

Sincerely,
Bob Hiltz

Record Exams

At a recent meeting of the Student Council, Dr. Doehler pointed out the advisability of preparing for the Graduate Record Examinations which will be administered to a large portion of the student body in the Spring. These tests, are prerequisites of admission in a large number of Graduate Schools in the United States.

Since the Christmas holidays give us a fair amount of leisure, it would be advisable to do some reasonably constructive reading. Last year the major failing of the students taking the examination was in the fine arts division in either music appreciation or art recognition.

The first of these two deficiencies may be remedied by taking the music appreciation course of Mr. Bellows on Wednesday afternoons. At present, proficiency in the recognition of art masterpieces may be gained only by private reading. However, those desirous of securing a well rounded liberal arts education will begin to remedy these and other deficiencies now.

How Now, Hopkins?

Last year we vociferously applauded the decision of the Transit Company to eliminate the inconvenient Homeland shuttle bus by extending the A Bus out Charles Street Avenue. Now, a situation has arisen in the early mornings which threatens to nullify the advantage of such service through no fault of the BTC.

For some mysterious reason, students at Johns Hopkins will wait doggedly on the street corners so that they can jam every Homeland Bus between seven and nine o'clock while buses for University Parkway and 34th Street chug vacantly by. But why this attraction to the Homeland Bus when the others will go, for Hopkins students, just as far?

We hesitate to accept the theories offered by Loyola commuters for not that many demons could sneak into Hopkins under Public Law No. 346. We would appreciate some explanation from the Johns Hopkins News-Letter and, mayhap, from the Columns.

Bad Poetry Pays Well, Says Ogden Nash, Baltimore Poet

by Terrence Burke

"I have been writing bad poetry for sixteen years," said Mr. Ogden Nash. "Some people try to write good verse, it turns out no good, and they go broke. I cold-bloodedly and with malice aforethought break every rule in the book, and this is the result," and he gestured about him.

We gazed appreciatively about us at his fine, spacious Baltimore home at 4300 Rugby Road.

Sold First Copy

The man who makes people turn first to the Postscripts page of the Saturday Evening Post wrote his first piece of humorous verse on company time while working in the Editorial Department of Doubleday, Doran, publishers. The New Yorker bought it and asked for more.

"I kept my job and kept writing after hours. Pretty soon my 'home-work' was bringing in more than the job and I quit—the job, that is."

Verse Writer

Born at Rye, New York, he learned the poet's craft as a hobby at Harvard. "I knew how to write verse which wouldn't break any of the rules, but it wasn't any good. So I tried breaking the rules instead."

Besides his volumes of collected short verse, he wrote the lyrics for the Broadway success One Touch of Venus. "But show business is risky. I've just finished spending fourteen months on a show that met too many empty seats in Philadelphia. Too, all theatre work simply has to be done in New York, and that means being away from the family for 4 or 5 days out of the week. I'm going to spend this winter at home finishing a new book of verse."

Writing Is A Chore

Reflecting on his career, he concludes, "Heaven help anyone who wants to be a writer. It just looks easy. I haven't done much verse recently, but during my peak I could turn out 4 or 5 poems a week, averaging about 40 lines each. But, believe me, it's a chore. Some days it just won't come. But if you have a mania, as I do, for eating three times a day, you sit down and wring it out of yourself."

"Understand, I don't want to discourage anyone," he added hastily. "The publishers are always on the lookout for new blood. I know; I worked for one myself for 7 years. There are plenty of average writers who earn a good living, but people never remember their names. Those are the average SEP boys."

Seniors Choose Yearbook Poses

Proofs of the individual and group yearbook pictures have been returned to the photographer, said Editor Peter Malloy yesterday. Seniors were allowed to choose one pose from four proofs and the activity heads, one pose from two proofs.

Merin Studios of Philadelphia, official photographers, will send a representative to the campus in January to complete the photograph file of activities. The date will be announced later.

Work on the Evergreen copy will begin over the holidays under the direction of Jerry Crawford and Thomas Lalley, assistant editors.

Driscoll Heads Three Groups

Mr. William-M. J. Driscoll, S. J.

Mr. William-M. J. Driscoll, S. J., now recuperating at Mercy Hospital following an emergency appendectomy, is professor of Rhetoric and Classical Literature at Evergreen.

His extra-curricular interests include the Greyhound, the Bellarmine Debating Society, and the Mask and Rapier Dramatic Society. The latter club presented three one-act plays under his supervision on November 29.

A special collection for Mr. Driscoll was taken up among the student body at the news of his illness. A Gruen wrist watch was purchased with the proceeds.

To get people to remember you, you've got to have a new twist of some sort. Steinbeck, Hemingway, Morley—you could never confuse them with the run of the mill crowd."

Was Managing Editor

Somehow we got around to talking about the New Yorker magazine, of which Mr. Nash was Managing Editor for 3 months. "I think that magazine has had about 75 managing editors. Harold Ross, the editor, thinks he ought to have one, but he doesn't really want one around. He likes to do it all himself. He rewrites most of the Talk of the Town column himself. I like that magazine. They pay good rates for my stuff. But of course that's not nearly the only reason."

Assured of this, we rose, gratefully, and left.

Chapel . . .

contribute to the Chapel Fund. This is done for two reasons.

"First, I want to be sure that every Loyola man be represented in this Memorial Chapel effort. Second, by this extensive survey, I hope to renew old friendships and bring the Alumni into closer contact with one another."

One-Fourth Contribute

Latest reports show that slightly more than twenty-five percent of the total number of Alumni have contributed to the campaign. Twelve classes reported a contribution average of fifty percent or more.

Ten classes were at the one-third mark or better; nineteen were twenty percent subscribed or more; and eleven had less than twenty per-cent subscribed.

ALUMNI DOINGS

By Edward A. Doehler, '30

On the anniversary of Pearl Harbor the Alumni Association was gathered at Manresa on Severn for its annual retreat. Since 1941 this has become a tradition at Manresa. Loyola was in retreat there when the first report of the Japanese attack was received five years ago.

This year the scene of 1941 was vividly recalled to all who had been present on the first Pearl Harbor Day. At that time two Alumni members, Thomas J. Grogan and John D. White, were literally called from their pews in the chapel to answer the call of duty with the Navy. This year both were present as civilians, back from active duty, and as John White put it, "anxious to finish the retreat that had been interrupted five years ago."

Births

Best wishes are in order for the following Alumni members on the birth of sons and daughters:

To Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Bell on the birth of their son, Dennis Joseph.

To Mr. and Mrs. Albert B. Carozza on the birth of their daughter, Susan Catherine.

To Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Donohue on the birth of their daughter, Patricia Ann.

To Dr. and Mrs. Bernard L. Evering on the birth of their daughter, Kitty Bernard.

To Mr. and Mrs. Leo McCarthy on the birth of their daughter, Kathlyn Ann.

To Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Muth on the birth of their son, William Howard.

To Mr. and Mrs. J. Carroll Power on the birth of their son, Joseph Carroll.

To Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Rector on the birth of their daughter, Mary Ann.

Alumni Back in Baltimore

John D. White, '40, returning from service with the U. S. Navy, is at present a General Salesman with Socony Vacuum. Mr. and Mrs. White and their two children, Susan and John, are now residing at 4817 Keswick Road.

Thomas J. Grogan, '29, also a former Navy officer, is back at the practice of law in the Baltimore Life Building and has joined the faculty of Loyola's Evening School.

Dr. John C. Norton, Jr., '40, announces the opening of his office at 1933 W. Baltimore Street.

Sympathy Notes

The Alumni Association wishes to extend its deepest sympathy to the family of Rev. Charles W. Endres, '31, on the death of their mother, Mrs. Margaret Endres. Also, sympathy to the family of the late Joseph J. Broening, Sr., ex '06. Mr. Broening's son, Joseph J. Broening, Jr., is a graduate of the class of '31.

Hounds Top Randolph-Macon By 63-51 Score

Ft. Belvoir Five Bows By 58-42

With Jim Lacy and Don Galloway leading the way in the scoring column, Loyola handed Fort Belvoir's soldiers their first defeat of the young season with a 58-42 thrashing on the Evergreen court before a near-capacity audience.

Lacy hit the hoops nine times from the floor and threw in four foul shots to take over the individual high slot with 22 markers. Galloway's 13 points, made on six two-pointers and a free throw, proved good enough for second best.

Team Plays Well

However, the entire squad played fine ball all the way, and the tight man-for-man defense thrown up by the Reitzmen was too much for the highly touted visitors. Only once in the third quarter did they display any semblance of the attack that had averaged 81 points for them in previous contests.

The soldiers got off to a fast 3-0 start within a minute of play, but a pair of cord-swishing one handers by Galloway sent the home forces into the lead for keeps.

O'Connor Sparks Club

Gene O'Connor's six points made him third high man on the club, but of more importance were his brilliant plays at mid-court. The Hounds' co-captain sparked the team all night, and set up several plays that led to scores.

American University Eagles Edge Greyhounds, 55-51, In D.C.

The Greyhounds dropped their first game of the season in the Mason-Dixon race to American University by a 55-51 count last Thursday night on the Eagles' floor in Washington, D. C.

Jim Lacy was again the ace on the floor, scoring eight field goals and eight out of 11 foul shots for a total of twenty-four points.

Striking early and gaining a formidable lead, the home team rolled to a convincing 33 to 20 advantage at halftime. The second half saw the Hounds fight back but the Reitzmen failed to overcome the leaders' margin.

Tom Gisriel excelled in rebound work, and Gene O'Connor was outstanding on defense.

Cagers Whip Gallaudet, 67-28; O'Connor Leads Attack In Rout

Co-Captain Gene O'Connor stepped into the pace setter's role as the Greyhounds launched their Mason-Dixon league battling with a 67-28 win over Gallaudet last Tuesday evening at Evergreen.

The spunky veteran guard sank five field goals and a foul shot to win high scoring honors for the night. Close behind were Tom Gisriel and Andy O'Donnell with eight apiece, and Freddy Olinger, who scored seven while making his varsity debut.

Slow Start

Early action was on the dragged-out side, as both teams suffered from poor shooting. Capt. Les Massey of the visitors swished the cords with a set shot to break the ice, and Jim Lacy found the range from the foul line for a 2-1 score, and the count remained that way for a full three minutes.

Then O'Connor and O'Donnell, utilizing the fast break from their guard posts in the standard 2-1-2 zone, pulled the home team ahead to a comfortable 12-9 lead at the first quarter whistle.

The tempo picked up in the second period and the Hounds left the floor at intermission possessing a 28-12 advantage. A quick start in the third session sent the Green and Gray far in front, and Reitz once again drained his roster.

Stepping into action for the first time (he was sidelined by an attack of appendicitis), Olinger proved the sparkplug in the final half, as he and Bill Johnson and Gisriel ripped the webbing often.

Baker Emphasizes Strenuous Workouts In Preparation For Swimming Season

Rounding off the edges of the College's winter sport's calendar is Loyola's swimming team, coached by Bish Baker, an alumnus of the class of 1941.

Coach Baker pointed out that the various swimming categories were filled with competent men. Such categories and men are as follows: the breast stroke by B. Brandon and C. Bamberger; the back stroke by L. Greenbaum and D. O'Hare; the free style by C. Dailey, who performs in the 40 and 220 yard races while J. Oaster and J. Blondell compete in the 50 yard dash; and D. Davis and A. Dunn specialize in diving.

Upon eyeing the previous experience of the squad, several of the men are found to possess impressive background. C. Dailey, a member of the successful Greyhound team of '42, participated in the Washington Junior Nationals in 1944 and vied at Villanova College in the same year. J. Blondell excelled at Loyola High in '45, while D. Davis won recognition at Bainbridge Naval Center.

The tankmen open up at home on January 8th with Rider College, followed by a meet away with Catholic University on January 11th, and another home meet with La Salle College from Philadelphia on January 18th. These are the first three meets of a ten game card for the Green and Gray Swimmers.

Victors Take Early Lead

by Spencer Davidson

Tallying nine field goals and seven foul shots for a 25 point total Jim Lacy led the Greyhound quintet to its second conference win over Randolph-Macon on December 14th by a 63-51 count. The game was played before one of the largest crowds assembled at Evergreen this year, and enabled the courtmen to keep their streak of undefeated home appearances intact.

The visitors had trouble penetrating the Green and Grey man to man defense during the first half. Loyola, however, mastered its initial nervousness and proceeded to dominate play with teamwork and accurate shooting, leaving the floor at halftime with a 29-20 margin.

Loyola was pressed only once when Randolph-Macon staged a rally late in the third period. The visitors closed the gap to 36-35, but O'Donnell dropped in a swisher from outside and Lacy tipped in a rebound to take the Greyhounds out of danger.

Best shot of the evening was a swisher which Sid Roche banked in over his head late in the contest, while Tom Gisriel turned in a stellar defense job guarding Marandino, Randolph-Macon ace.

B Squad Faces Loyola Quintet

Loyola's B squad basketball team will engage the Loyola High quintet tomorrow evening (7 p.m.) as a preliminary contest before the Alderson-Broadus varsity clash.

Taking the scoring ability, defensive play and the speed of the junior Hounds into consideration, Ned Stevenson, youthful coach, has a winning ball club under his charge. Although falling in defeat in their first two starts this season, 29-22 to Calvert Hall and 71-36 to La Salle, the preliminary five proved their ability of playing a good brand of basketball.

In both games, height was the big reason for the opponent's victory, especially at La Salle where the taller foes controlled rebound play consistently.

For these first two games, the starting five was composed of Wintz and Scrivener at forward, Hughes at center, and Whalen and Vidali at guard. Among the standouts pressing for a first team berth are Jim O'Connor, John O'Connor, Gilbert, Haslbeck, Bailey, Salty-siak and DeVilbiss.

Running With The Hounds

by Tim Parr

Now that the Greyhound basketball squad has completed its three-day journey to Kingston, South Orange and Philadelphia, and has met and bowed to Rhode Island State, Seton Hall and La Salle, Lefty Reitz is hoping that some injuries received on the trip will soon disappear as his boys prepare for the Mason-Dixon title chase.

In that week-end of hardwood pounding, the Hounds played before some 7000 fans, including two sellout crowds.

Although the scores didn't spell victory for the Evergreen five, there is a lot to be considered before judging the capabilities of the Hounds. Before the opening game against the R. I. State team, the fans and sports writers were spotting Loyola 50 points.

With the opening whistle, Galloway tapped to Gisriel who passed to McGarry for a score, and a few seconds later, the Hounds scored again. An electrifying silence fell over the crowd, and the packed house remained almost silent until the half, at which time the home team was ahead by a slim 9 points.

Not until the second half did the fire-house attack and capable reserves take effect. Coach Keaney of the Rams admitted to Lefty Reitz that the Hounds were giving his team a run for their money in the first half. Injuries suffered as a result of the test were a bad case of shin splints for Don Galloway, a bruised heel for Jim Lacy, and a generally tired ball club.

On Saturday night, after a six hour train ride, the Hounds arrived at Seton Hall, just one hour and a half before game time. Reitz floored the same five men who opened against Rhode Island, but the usual fight and vigor of the first string was gone.

Consequently, the Pirates, after a rather close first half, and a scoring spree in the early part of the second, surged out in front to put the game on ice and hand the Hounds their second loss. Galloway's paining legs necessitated his early removal, and Lacy's injured foot prevented him from his usual cutting under the hoops.

Just sixteen hours after the final horn, the tired and weary Evergreen crew dribbled on to the spacious La Salle floor to battle the dangerous Black and White. The 29-24 half time reading showed that when La-Salle visits the home court on January 31, the final score will be greatly modified.

Lacy scored 42 points in the three games, and was high scorer for the Hounds in each clash. Although unvictorious, the experienced gained from this tougher competition will aid greatly in the conference race.

The Athletic Office has announced that the 1947 Greyhound Track Team does not have a coach at present. Bob Martin coach of the cindermen for the past couple years will not be available this season. Any of Loyola's past track luminaries who are interested in helping out the Hounds this spring, should contact Lefty Reitz in the near future.

Rhode Island, Seton Hall, La Salle Down Quint On Northern Trip

Loyola College's journey to the basketball strongholds of Rhode Island State, Seton Hall and La Salle College resulted in a trio of defeats for the Hounds over the week-end of December 6.

In the early minutes of every contest, the Hounds' sure passing and accurate shooting put them in the lead or very close behind the home team. However, the opponents' fast break in the second half coupled with the three-day strain on the team were responsible for the convincing scores which the winners rolled up.

Rhode Island was victorious by a 84-55 score in the opener of the trip Friday evening; on Saturday, Seton Hall racked up a 60-38 margin; Sunday afternoon found the Hounds bowing to La Salle by a 71-46 verdict.

Rhode Island 84; Loyola 55

Starting out on a rugged three-day road trip, the Greyhound basketball squad threw a real scare into a highly-touted Rhode Island State quintet, before bowing to the Rams, 84-55, on December 6.

Playing at Kingston, R. I., the stubborn Loyola five threatened to upset the prestige of Rhode Island during the early minutes of the game, and matched their hosts play-for-play while holding down the Ram scoring. The half time score of 37-27 was clearly indicative of the fighting spirit of the Green and Gray basketeers, since Rhode Island is used to enjoying more commanding leads than that.

Allen Is High Scorer

Jackie Allen was the big gun for the New Englanders, garnering 26 points to lead all scorers, and actually holding the Rams together during the first half with his marvelous floor work and play-making. Ken Goodwin, with 16 markers, was next in line and was outstanding in rebound work.

Playing his consistently top-notch game, big Jim Lacy racked up 13 points before fouling out at the three-quarter point of the match.

Roche, Galloway Play Well

Sid Roche proved that his hoop eye is as deadly as ever, as he popped in 10 tallies for Lefty Reitz's club; while Don Galloway, despite having shin splints in both legs, was right on Roche's heels with 9 points.

Gym Regulations

The athletic office has announced a new regulation concerning the use of the gymnasium building on the day of wrestling and swimming meets.

The gym will be closed to student recreation from noon to the end of the intercollegiate contest on the day of the meet. Students are urged to watch the athletic bulletin board, for the time and days of the meets.

Grid Standings

Final standings in the intramural touch football league follow:

TEAM	W.	L.	T.
Ramblers	2	2	1
Zeros	2	2	0
Ruffies	1	2	0
Wildcats	1	3	0
Rumdums	0	4	1

DON GALLOWAY played stellar ball for the first two games on the road, but a bad case of shin splints forced him from the lineup.

Seton Hall 60; Loyola 38

Seton Hall's mercury-footed Pirates, forging into an unconquerable lead in the middle of the opening period, posted a 60-38 victory over the visiting Greyhounds before a capacity crowd of 4,000 spectators.

The Hounds stayed even at 4-4 for the opening minutes, through the two fouls and set shot of Jim Lacy, but a 13 point spurt put Seton Hall far in front. Wanzer and Saul collected 11 of the markers, before Gene O'Conor sank a charity shot to end their spree.

Galloway Scores

Don Galloway sank a one-hander from beyond the foul circle and Lacy converted a foul shot to make the count 17-8 at the quarter.

The second frame saw the Pirates pull further ahead and the half ended at 35-21.

Excellent Shooting

The Pirates' shooting was little short of phenomenal in the first half as they caged 16 of their 36 attempts, while the Hounds connected on only 8 of 27 tries.

The visitors gave the leaders a scare in the opening minutes of the second half, stringing together six straight points by virtue of Jim Lacy's two set shots and Gene O'Conor's two-pointer to cut the lead to 35-27. Wanzer and Mackanowski took over the scoring and built the Pirates into a 47-30 margin at the end of three quarters.

Loyola was playing tighter defensively, but just couldn't match the home team in speed.

LaSalle 71; Loyola 46

An injury-plagued and game-worn Loyola College quintet suffered its third defeat of a three-day northern tour at the hands of La Salle College last Sunday afternoon before a near capacity crowd of 1000 fans. The final score was 71-46.

Don Galloway's absence from the starting lineup due to a bad case of shin splints, combined with Jim Lacy's injured heel, and a four-game card in five days all combined to make the Hounds far below par in their encounter with the Black and White.

Lacy Scores First 11 Points

Jim Lacy, although unable to do any extensive cutting the hoops, racked up Loyola's first eleven points to tie the score near the close of the first period. In the second quarter, La Salle began to move, and held a 29-24 lead at halftime.

With seconds remaining before the close of the second period, Thompson, La Salle's guard, registered a field goal which traveled three-quarters of the length of the court. As the whistle blew, Andy O'Donnell duplicated Thompson's heave, to bring the cheering crowd to its feet.

Use Fast Break

La Salle initiated a fast break offense in the second half, and the Green and Gray, tiring quickly from the three-day strain, failed to keep pace with the well rested home team.

Although the entire squad played and performed admirably, the fine work of Paul Feeley on rebounds and general team play was especially laudable.

Grapplers Look To F-M Match

Resumption of intercollegiate wrestling activity following the Christmas holidays will find Loyola's grapplers tangling with a reputedly strong Franklin and Marshall team on January 22.

Improving rapidly under the watchful eye of Phil Goodman, the Hounds underwent their initial season tests on Wednesday and yesterday against Virginia and Washington and Lee.

Although the squad boasts little experience, Goodman feels that the ancient adage "practice makes perfect" will pay dividends, and is sending the team through meticulous drills. This practice, together with the knowledge gained in future matches, are his main hopes for a potent Greyhound participation in the Mason-Dixon meet at the close of the schedule.

Seniors Lecture To Accountants

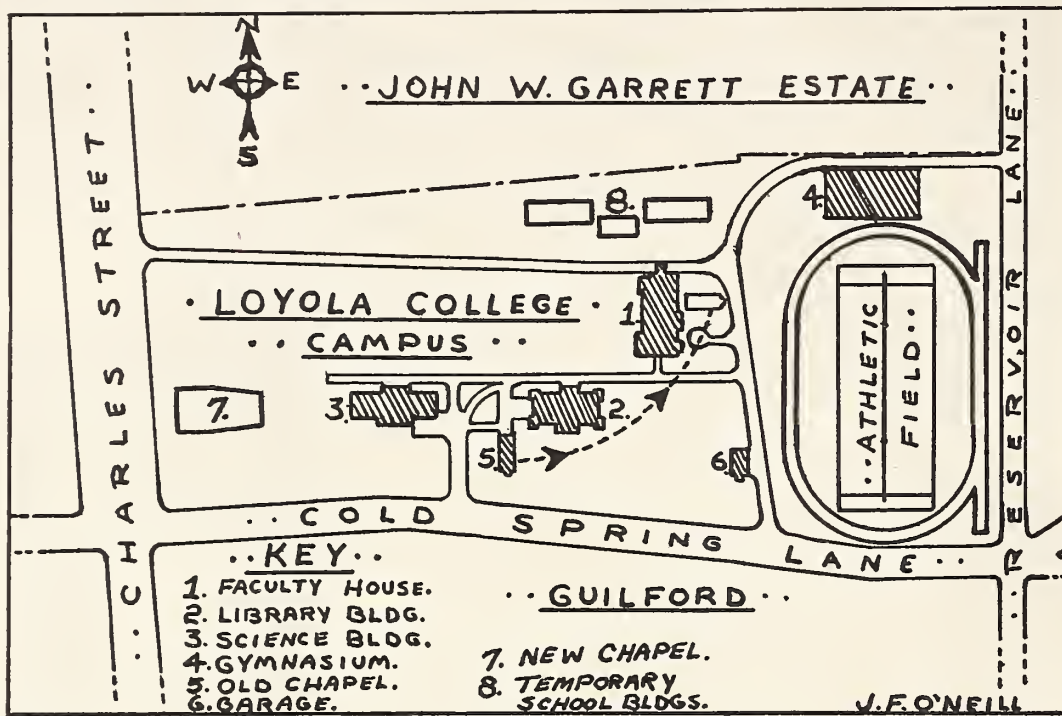

Two lectures will be delivered before the Accounting Club during January by Seniors who are majoring in Business Administration or allied fields. Mannes F. Greenberg, president, will be the first to speak before the group and, at the following meeting, J. Edward Custy, Jr., will be the lecturer.

Future projects of the club include a guided tour of the branch of the International Business Machine Corporation in Baltimore and an address by a member of the Maryland Board of Certified Public Accountants.

Mr. Michael Sullivan, of the faculty, addressed a recent meeting of the club. Mr. Sullivan, who was formerly employed by a Texas oil company, discussed the cost problems which arise as a result of crude oil production and the subsequent refining operations.

Greenberg has been appointed chairman of the Student Council's Auditing Committee. Under his guidance, an audited report of the Junior Prom will be presented to the Council.

Chapel Of St. Francis Will Be Moved When Temporary Buildings Are Erected

by Cyril Keller

Plans for post-war expansion of the college facilities will be realized in the near future when the Memorial Chapel is erected on the Southwestern portion of the campus and the two temporary buildings are installed on the Northern portion of the campus. The present Chapel of St. Francis Xavier will be moved to the rear of the Faculty Residence when the temporary buildings are moved here.

No date has as yet been given for the breaking of ground for the new Chapel of Our Lady of Evergreen but more than three-quarters of the necessary funds for its erection have been contributed.

The obstacle course which is now laid out between the John W. Garrett Estate and the driveway will be removed and several trees felled to make room for the temporary buildings. Nearly ten extra classrooms will thus be added to the college facilities and clear the way for a large enrollment in Spring.

Chapel Moved In 1923

The moving of the present Chapel (5) to its new location (see arrow) behind the Faculty Residence (1) will not be as difficult as it seems for the Chapel was not constructed on the campus but was moved here in 1923 from Mt. Washington, where it had served as a parish Church.

Architecturally, the present Chapel harmonizes with the Faculty Residence for both are constructed in what is called the half-timbered Tudor style. The Faculty now uses the third floor of the Residence as the Community Chapel.

Two Temporary Buildings

The three rectangular outlines (8) which are listed on the diagram as the temporary buildings are in reality only two buildings. The Administration building is shaped in the form of a "L" and when it arrives here, will be broken into two separate units. Surveyors have already laid out the exact site of the buildings.

Furniture for the buildings has been arriving during the past few weeks. It has either been used for present needs or stored until the temporary structures arrive.

Our Lady's Chapel of Evergreen (7) will seat more than 600 students and have underneath it, an adequate auditorium for lectures and other presentations of the college.

News In Brief

Two marriages of Loyola College Seniors will be celebrated tomorrow. Leon J. Greenbaum will be married to Miss Audrey Day at the bride's home. Peter J. Malloy will be married to Miss Nadine Carolyn Heying at St. Ignatius Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Plumridge have announced the engagement of their daughter, Kathleen, to Robert W. Reichel of the Senior Class. Both are residents of Syracuse, N. Y. No date has been set for the marriage.

The Rev. Thomas J. Higgins, S. J., the Rev. John E. Wise, S. J., and the Rev. William V. Herlihy, S. J., have recently been guests at forums held at various Protestant Churches to discuss the various religions in America. Each was asked to explain Catholic doctrines on controversial subjects.

Continuing the Mendel Club's series of lectures, William Shea delivered a talk at last Wednesday's meeting on "Fertilization and the Ovum." Another address will be given in January.

CORRECTION

In the Chapel Campaign Supplement the name of the Rev. William F. Sauer, Pastor of St. Michael's Church, Overlea, was omitted as a contributor from the Class of 1915. The contribution, made last April, was credited to the general fund instead of the Alumni fund. THE GREYHOUND regrets the error.
